A ROUGH EXPERIENCE.

The Tug Pendell Caught in the Gale of Tuesday Night and Makes a Narrow Escape—Being Reached to Save Her and Those on Board.

Last Tuesday forenoon the tug Pendell started with the schooner C. Hart, loaded with lumber for the new court house for Presque Isle county. They reached Rogers City safely that afternoon and after some delay succeeded in getting the lumber unloaded about 10 o'clock that night. Learning at the telegraph office that the storm signals had been ordered up they were anxious to get back home and as it was calm at the time they hastened to make preparations for returning and started back about midnight. When they left Rogers City there was no sea running and but a light breeze blowing. All at once the gale set in and blew with terrific force and having the Hart in tow it made heavy work for the tug. At times the wind, which was dead ahead blew so strong that the schooner would drag the tug astern and sea after sea would sweep over her threatening to swamp her. For sometime the unequal contest was kept up, Capt. Kitchen still hoping to make this port all right. The heavy strain on the towline caused it to part and the schooner drifted off and was left to be cared for by the crew. In the meantime the water continued to fill the hull of the tug and gained upon them so fast, notwithstanding all their efforts to keep her free, that all hands came to the conclusion that she had sprung a leak and as the water threatened soon to extinguish the fire Capt. Kitchen concluded that the best thing that could be done was to head her for shore, and done so, striking shoal water on the beach about 10 miles down the shore, about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning. All hands succeeded in getting ashore, being compelled to swim. The morning was quite cold and, thoroughly wet as they were, they started to foot it to Cheboygan, where they arrived before noon. Wednesday was a terribly stormy day and a very heavy sea was running all day and fears were entertained that the tug might prove a total loss. Capt. Hart, of the little schooner proved equal to the occasion and making sail run back to Hammonds bay with his vessel and that evening succeeded in making this port all right. Thursday morning the tug Bennett started down to see what could be done to release the tug, taking a number of pumps and men to work them and also John Dodd, the diver, in case it might be necessary to stop any leaks. They reached the tug and found her well covered with ice. A line was run from the Bennett to the Pendell and the men and pumps put on board. They found no trouble in freeing her from water and when pumped out came so near floating that the tow line did not have to be stretched to pull her off. She was not injured in the least and was towed into port Thursday afternoon. As she did not leak it is evident that the water that was fast filling her all came from the heavy seas that continually washed over her. After being brought in her boiler was filled and steam got up and yesterday she was as ready for business as ever.

Forty-Seventh Congress.

The first regular session of the 47th Congress convened at Washington last Monday. The main interest centered in the organization of the House and the galleries were crowded by interested spectators long before the body was called to order. Clerk Adams, of the last House, promptly at noon announced the session open and proceeded to call the roll, 290 Representatives answering to their names. The organization was then perfected by the election of the candidates nominated by the Republican caucus last Saturday, as follows:

Speaker.—Gen. Joseph Warren Keifer, of Ohio.

Clerk.—Edward McPherson, of Pennsylvania.

Sergeant at Arms.—Col. Geo. W. Hooker, of Vermont.

Doorkeeper.—Walter P. Brownlow, of Tennessee.

Postmaster.—Capt. Harry Sherwood, of Michigan.

Chaplain.—Rev. Frederick D. Power, of Washington.

General J. Warren Keifer, Speaker of the House will be 45 years of age in January next. He graduated at Antioch College when it was under the direction of Horace Mann, and had just entered upon the practice of law at Springfield, Ohio, when the war broke out in 1861. He was among the first to enter the service from Clark County, and as early as April 27 was commissioned Major of the Third Ohio Infantry. He remained in the army until June 27th, 1865, and left it with the brevet rank of Major General. He always served with distinction and was wounded three times while fighting the battles of his country, having his left arm shattered at the battle of the Wilderness, but kept the field and joined gallant Phil Sheridan's army at Harpers Ferry and with his arm in a sling fought at Opequon, Fisher's Hill and Cedar Creek. At Opequon he was wounded in the thigh by a shell. This did not prevent him rendering further service and he commanded his brigade successfully in several succeeding battles.

In 1868 General Keifer was elected member of the Ohio Senate, and in 1876 was elected to Congress, and has been an influential member since that date, being returned at each succeeding election by increased majorities. In 1876 his majority was 3,716; two years later he was re-elected by a majority of 5,090 and last fall his majority was increased to 5,917. He is a self made man and has always proved equal to the situation in whatever position he has been placed which is conclusive evidence that he is a man of considerable ability and where he is best known, even his political opponents concede that he will make an able Speaker of the House. The Cincinnati Enquirer, the leading Democratic paper of Ohio, previous to his nomination said "If Keifer should be elected Speaker, the facility with which he would preside over the House would probably surprise even his intimate friends."

Railroad Matters.

Ballasting is now finished between here and Indian River and between that place and Gaylord it is also finished with the exception of a few places that have settled since it was first done. The iron is laid on the Mackinaw division for 11 miles out of town and the grading on the remaining distance all finished. Track laying is progressing quite rapidly as an additional force of men are now at work. Governor Jerome and staff, W. M. Williams, state railroad commissioner, and all the principal magnates interested in the M. C. and D. M. & M. railways will leave Detroit on the 19th, on a special train to inspect this road and the D. M. & M. and if the the Mackinaw division is not finished they will take the boat there and go over to St. Ignace and from there to Marquette.

The rumor now is, and upon pretty good foundation too, that a regular train will be put on the road immediately after this inspection and also the contract for carrying the mails by rail will be let.

St. Ignace and Marquette are now connected by rail; track laying having been finished yesterday, and consequently to day is a happy one for the Pointites, although the benefit they are to derive from it is yet to be seen.

STATE NEWS.

The supreme court has said that playing pool or billiards, where the loser pays for the game, is gambling.

Taxes assessed upon railroads of this state for the year covered by the railroad commissioner's report aggregate $521,513.34.

Michael Englemann, of Manistee, reports having recently sold some pine lands in this state to Manistee parties for $220,000.

Only six railroads in the state pay dividends, viz., the Chicago & Northwestern, Detroit, Lansing & Northern, Ft. Wayne & Jackson, Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, Michigan Central and Mineral Range.

The new picture backing mill of McElwee & Co., at Big Rapids, to replace the one lately burned, will be the largest establishment of the kind in the United States. It will be ready for the machinery in a short time.

Some wag in Jackson put an iron bull frog on a log in the middle of the river, and the boys cleared the adjacent river banks of stone to throw at it, after which a hunter used all his powder and shot trying to kill it; but that frog wouldn't jump worth a cent.

Capac Argus: A living curiosity is on exhibition a few miles west of Capac on Steve Haver's place. This freak of nature is a fat hog that is shedding its winter clothing. From its ears to tail, and about half way down on each side of the animal, the skin is cracked open and is coming off in two large pieces. Neighbors for miles around are flocking to see the strange spectacle.

A family of six innocent girls and two long suffering boys, residing at Plymouth, bear the following given names as proof of their parents' craze for rhyme:

Caroline Amelia,
Evaline Adelia,
Angeline Cornelia,
Evaline Cordelia,
Castline Corolla,
Haskaline Cerebia.

The hind name of this afflicted family is Newman.

The railroad commissioner's report shows that during the year 1879 there were 300 persons killed or injured on the railways in this state, and during 1880 there were 272. The report says: But as the figures for '79 include the killed and injured by the exceptional disaster at Jackson of that year (41 in number), the ordinary accidents appear to have increased during the period under report, in which 86 persons were killed and 186 injured. Of those killed 6 were passengers, 40 employees and 40 people having no relations whatever to the railroads or their business. Of the injured 20 were passengers, 130 employees and 36 idlers or trespassers.

Women Never Think!

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best, and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.

Good Words for a Good Thing.

All things are not humbugs, nor are all statements lies. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is exactly what it claims to be. Hear a word from Mr. Israel H. Snyder, of Saugerties N. Y. He says: "My little daughter was covered with Salt Rheum from head to foot. Dr. Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy' cured her altogether, and the disease has never since appeared. This was two years ago." Such words go to the point. Get "Favorite Remedy" of your Druggist, or write to the Doctor, at Rondout, N. Y. $1.00 a bottle.

A Cough, Cold, Catarrh, or Sore Throat requires immediate attention. For all such it's as good as a Family Doctor, to have in the house a bottle of Peerless Cough Syrup, and it only costs 50 cts. or $1.00. For sale by Kenburg and Cooper.
